Bing and Google are your two default search engines, and switching browsers can be a real pain, especially when it comes to typing a URL in the browser address bar. This is why you can set Bing as your default search engine with Bing-Google for Firefox. Receive Google search results for every Bing search. The only way you know for sure that the extension is properly working is to head over to Bing and perform a random search. Results are displayed from Google every time a search operation is attempted on Bing while using Mozilla Firefox. Moreover, this is done even when you use the dedicated search bar and it's set to use Bing. Make Cortana use Google as well In case Mozilla Firefox is your default browser, every search operation which requires the browser to open up with Bing results are redirected to Google. On the bright side of things, there's also a way to turn this to an advantage while looking up things over the web via Cortana. A little effort is required, but it might be just what you're looking for. To end with Bottom line is that it's frustrating not to benefit from the liberty of using the tools you want. However, applications and extensions make this possible, and Bing-Google for Firefox is a suitable example in case you ever wanted Cortana to return Google results, or see a lot less of Bing in general. Receive Google search results for every Bing search. a letter to President Clinton in which he stated in part: "Bosnia will never have peace or tranquility until it controls its fate, its [Bosnian] army, and its artillery within its own borders." He also noted that "Bosnia will never have security without the Army." Shortly after these interviews with the President, Serb nationalists brought down the government. A full year later, in December 1993, he went to Sarajevo, the capital city of Bosnia, and participated in the first round of the peace process at Dayton, Ohio. I was not present at Sarajevo, but I know a good deal about the situation there. I have been in and out of Bosnia throughout the b7e8fdf5c8

VANCOUVER -- Police in Washington state are searching for a missing child who might not be old enough to be a runaway, saying she hasn't been seen for 11 days and has no known medical problems. Police in the town of Des Moines, which is near the Canadian border, say 18-year-old Elizabeth "Lizzy" Bourgault has not been seen since July 10. She is described as white with long brown hair and brown eyes. Elizabeth Bourgault Des Moines Police Department She was last seen wearing a white or gray T-shirt, black shorts, white shoes and a blue backpack. Police say Bourgault may be a runaway because she has no medical concerns. She would have been with a man who is also a missing person. Anyone with information on the Bourgault case can call the Des Moines Police Department at (509) 996-3700 or Crime Stoppers at (509) 789-5634.
